collection of J. J. McC.

NEW YORK, 1880.

THE
WRITINGS OF
THE REV. ARCHIBALD ALEXANDER, D.D.

A Sermon Preached at the Opening of the General Assembly.

PHILADELPHIA, 1808.

The first publication of Dr. Alexander, and on that account of peculiar interest.

A Discourse Occasioned by the Burning of the Theatre in the City of Richmond, Va.

PHILADELPHIA, 1812.

This discourse is entitled "Tears of Sympathy," and was delivered in the City of Philadelphia, Dec. 26, 1811, at the request of the Virginia students attached to the medical class in the University of Pennsylvania.

An Inaugural Address.

NEW YORK, 1812.

This address was delivered by Dr. Alexander on the occasion of his inauguration as the first Professor in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, N. J., Aug. 12, 1812. Besides this address, the volume contains a sermon by the Rev. Samuel Miller, D.D., and a charge to the Professor and Students by the Rev. Philip Milledoller, D.D.

A Missionary Sermon Preached at the Opening of the General Assembly in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, 1814.

Nature of the Atonement.

A series of short articles published in 1824, in The Christian Advocate, in opposition to the views of Professor Murdock.

A Brief Outline of the Evidences of the Christian Religion.

PRINCETON, 1825.

In 1823 Dr. Alexander was informed by one of the tutors that infidel sentiments were current among the students in the College, and was requested to prepare something to counteract these skeptical tendencies. This work was the result. It was soon republished in England and Scotland, and translated into several languages, and is the text-book in many colleges and schools. It has passed through many editions.

The Canon of the Old and New Testaments Ascertained.

PRINCETON, 1826.

This work was reprinted in London in 1828, and in 1833 with an Introductory Preface by the Rev. John Morrison, D.D. In this preface he says, "The name of Dr. Alexander is already well known to the British public, in consequence of his distinguished work entitled 'Brief Outline of the Evidences of the Christian Religion,' which has been published in two or three distinct forms in Scotland and England. It is impossible for any judge to read that acute and masterly performance without feeling that Dr. Alexander is one of those eminent men who are destined to extend and perpetuate the literary and theological fame of the New World. He is one of a race of divines who, within the last thirty or forty years, has done much towards elevating the philological character of the United States to an almost equal rank with that of the parent country."

In 1835 this work was incorporated into the Biblical Family Library, published in Edinburgh, with notes by the Rev. David Dickson, D.D., who characterizes it as "by far the most complete view of the whole subject that has hitherto been published."

A Sermon Before the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

BOSTON, 1829.

Suggestions in Vindication of Sabbath Schools.

PHILADELPHIA, 1829.

A Pocket Dictionary of the Bible. AMERICAN S. S. UNION, 1829.

Before 1833, 25 editions of this work had been printed.

A Sermon Before the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Preached at Albany, N. Y., October 7th, 1829. Published in The National Preacher, New York, October, 1829.

A Selection of Hymns.

NEW YORK, 1831.

These Hymns are arranged by the first letter, in alphabetical order, and were prepared for use in the family and social meetings.

+ Annals of the Jewish Nation during the Period of the Second Temple. PRINCETON, 1832.

+ <sup>History</sup> (Lives of the Patriarchs. PHILADELPHIA, 1833.

+ History of the Israelites. PHILADELPHIA, 1834.

The above three books were afterward published in one volume, with additions, entitled "The History of the Israelitish Nation." It will be noticed in its place.

+ The Pastoral Office: A Sermon Preached at Philadelphia Before the Alumni of the Princeton Theological Seminary. PHILADELPHIA, 1834.

A Sermon to Young Men, Preached in the Chapel of the College of New Jersey. PRINCETON, 1836.

+ Submission: A Sermon Occasioned by the Death of Mrs. Margaret Miller Breckenridge. 1839.

In a memorial volume printed for private circulation.

+ Thoughts on Religious Experience. PHILADELPHIA, 1840.

These were first published in the Watchman of the South, a religious periodical of Richmond, Va., and were gathered into a volume in 1840. In 1853 the work appeared in a German translation. This book contains the results of the author's matured thinking upon the inward work of grace, and has been extensively useful. No one of his writings more fully reveals his own opinions and feelings upon the rise and progress of godliness in the soul.

The People of God Led in Unknown Ways: A Sermon. RICHMOND, VA., 1842.

Afterward published by The Presbyterian Board of Publication.

+ An Address Delivered Before the Alumni Association of Washington College, Virginia. LEXINGTON, VA., 1843.

This is the Institution at which Dr. Alexander was educated, known at the time as "Liberty Hall." From the crowd of persons and the extreme heat, he was, during the address, seized with a faintness which was alarming, and which made it necessary for him to be carried into the open air. No expostulations, however, could induce him to desist. He therefore returned and completed the delivery of the address.

+ Biographical Sketches of the Founders and of the Principal Alumni of the Log College. PRINCETON, 1845.

On the 8th of August, 1838, at the request of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, Dr. Alexander preached a Centenary Discourse before that body. A copy being requested, the author enlarged the plan, and it was published in its present form. A new edition was issued by The Presbyterian Board of Publication.

+ A History of Colonization on the Western Coast of Africa. PHILADELPHIA, 1846.

The greater part of this work appeared first in a series of articles in the Newark Daily Advertiser. That portion of the work from page 433 to the end, was written by the Rev. William A. Dod and the Rev. Samuel D. Alexander, at the time students in the Theological Seminary.

+ Thoughts on the Education of Pious and Indigent Candidates for the Ministry. PHILADELPHIA, 1846.

Prophecies of Nineveh and Babylon. BOSTON, 1848.

Published in a volume entitled "Beauties of Sacred Literature."

+ Practical Sermons, to be Read in Families and Social Meetings. THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION, 1850.

These sermons were published at the request of James Lenox, Esq., of New York, who paid for the stereotype plates in order that the book might have a wider circulation.

+ Outlines of Moral Science. NEW YORK, 1852.

This book was published after the author's death by his son, the Rev. James W. Alexander, D.D., and contains a preface by him. The lectures delivered by Dr. Alexander on "Mental and Moral Science" during forty years in which he was theological professor, were the basis of this little volume. On his dying bed he gave the work to his son with directions for its publication. The autograph manuscript is deposited in the library of the Theological Seminary at Princeton.

+ A History of the Israelitish Nation from their Origin to the Destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans. PHILADELPHIA, 1853.

This book includes, Lives of the Patriarchs, History of the Israelites, and Annals of the Jews, published some years before. Added to these is that portion of the book on the Babylonish Captivity, prepared at the request of Dr. Alexander, by the Rev. Abraham Gosman, D.D., of Lawrenceville, N. J.

+ The Way of Salvation Familiarly Explained in a Conversation Between a Father and his Children.

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION.

This little book and those noticed below, were published at various times without date.

THE
THE REV. JAMES WADDEL ALEXANDER, D.D

The Flower-Book. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1832

Life of Nicholas Ferrar. PHILADELPHIA, 1833.

This was a remarkable man who lived in the reigns of James and Charles I. Dr. Alexander prepared this life and offered it to the American Sunday-School Union, but not being accepted, it was soon after published by a Philadelphia bookseller.

+ Jane Scott. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1833.

The Only Son. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1833.

Hebrew Customs. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1834.

+ Charles Clifford. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1834.

Letters to a Younger Brother. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1834.

These letters were first published in The Sunday-School Journal.

Address Before the Synod of New York. 1835.

+ A Gift to the Afflicted. PRINCETON, 1835.

The Infant Library. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1835,

This consists of twenty-four small books for the youngest children. In the one entitled "The Sabbath-Breaker," James and Edward represent the author and the Rev. E. N. Kirk in an incident of their boyhood. "The Glass of Whisky," in this series, was translated into Swedish, which the author says "gave me great joy and encouragement."

Travels About Home. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1836.

Life of Jacob and His Son Joseph.
AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1836.

+ Harvest. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1838.

Uncle Austin. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1838.

The Scripture Guide. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1838.

† The American Mechanic and Workingman.

2 vols. PHILADELPHIA, 1838, 1839

In 1830, Dr. Alexander began a series of letters in the Newark Daily Advertiser, under the signature of Charles Quill. The first series of forty-six papers was collected in a volume entitled "The American Mechanic," and published by Perkins, of Philadelphia, in 1838. The second series of forty-five papers did not appear in the newspapers, but was published by Perkins, in 1839, entitled "The Workingman." The author says that this volume is the same in plan with the first, but pitched two or three degrees higher as to style and allusion, etc. In 1847 Martine published a new edition of this work, entitled "The American Mechanic and Workingman."

Lame John.

AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1840.

He began this book under the title of "Lame Jack," but the resemblance to Miss Edgeworth's "Lame Jervas," and Captain Marryat's "Poor Jack," led him to change the name.

† Letters to a Very Young Lady. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1843.

On the appearance of this volume the author wrote sportively to Dr. Hall: "A work of thrilling interest has appeared entitled 'Letters to a Very Young Lady;' it is not certain whether by Chalmers or Macaulay. It is likely to move both hemispheres."

† Memoir of the Rev. James Waddel, D.D.

This memoir was first printed in 1844, in The Watchman of the South, a religious newspaper, published at Richmond, Virginia, and reprinted for private circulation in 1880.

Good, Better, Best.

AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1844.

This book was republished in London, with an Introduction by the Rev. Dr. Candlish, in 1856.

The Life of Absalom.

Thoughts on Sacramental Occasions:

Extracted from the Diary of the Rev. Philip Doddridge, D.D., with an Introduction by the Rev. James W. Alexander, D.D.

PHILADELPHIA, 1846.

- + Frank Harper. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1847.

The author says he wrote this book out of pity to town boys.

THE REV. JOSEPH ADDISON ALEXANDER, D.D.

A Geography of the Bible. AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, 1830.

This is the joint work of Dr. James W. Alexander and Dr. Joseph Addison Alexander.

+ The Earlier Prophecies of Isaiah. NEW YORK, 1846.

+ The Later Prophecies of Isaiah. NEW YORK, 1847.

Dr. Alexander began writing this commentary about 1836. For the next ten years he went over and over the subject with his classes in the Seminary, and rewrote the whole many times before he was prepared to print. The first volume appeared in 1846, and the second in 1847.

M. De Lengerke, a distinguished professor at Königsburg, author of a commentary on Daniel and the Psalms, in an article in La Reformation, gives his estimate of this work: "C'est ici le lieu de mentionner aussi une explication des trente-neuf premiers chapitres d'Esaïe par Alexander, professeur de théologie à Princeton, aux Etats-Unis. Ce fruit de l'érudition Américaine nous a paru remarquable, entre autres par la connaissance complète de la littérature allemande sur Esaïe, dont l'auteur fait preuve, soit dans le commentaire même, soit dans l'introduction où il cite et apprécie tous ses prédécesseurs."

An edition of this work was published in Glasgow, with an able introduction by the Rev. John Eadie, LL.D., Professor of Biblical Literature in the United Presbyterian Church. In this introduction he places Dr. Alexander above all commentators on Isaiah who had preceded him, not even excepting Vitranga and Calvin.

The Evangelical Magazine of England thus eulogizes the author: "Truly such a theologian as Professor Alexander is a credit to this country and a blessing to the age. His introduction alone to his commentary on Isaiah, is a contribution of surpassing value. It evinces a vast range of acquaintance with the early and modern schools of interpretation."

In 1857 Dr. Alexander published an abridged edition of this work in two volumes 12mo.

The Psalms Explained. 3 vols.

NEW YORK, 1850.

In 1849 Dr. Alexander began to write his work on the Psalms.

In a letter to his publisher, he says: "My plan is to convey to the English reader, in the shortest space, the true sense, as determined by the best and latest exegesis. This I do, when it is possible, by mere translation; if not, by paraphrase; if more is wanted, by brief comment."

Primitive Church Officers.

NEW YORK, 1851.

The Acts of the Apostles Explained. 2 vols.

NEW YORK, 1857.

This work was projected in 1852. The first plan of the author was to write a critical commentary on the plan of his Isaiah. He began printing in 1856, and had already stereotyped 100 pages, when his plan was changed, occasioned by a proposition from Dr. Hodge that they should jointly write popular commentaries on the whole of the New Testament—Dr. Alexander to prepare the Gospels and Acts. This is the first work on this plan.

The Gospel According to Mark Explained.

NEW YORK, 1858.

This volume appeared in October, 1858. Dr. James W. Alexander, writing to the author, says: "I pronounce this by far your best work. It is eminently readable. It contains episodical passages very agreeable to a purist in language. Especially have you hit off the rendering into happy equivalents in sound English. The diction is better than in any of your opera. Two qualities are quite unusual: 1. You place the reader (and this more than any expositor known to me) near the stand-point of a Greek scholar; and, 2. You give vividness to the narrative and remove the integument or rusty coating of custom and daily use."

Sermons. 2 vols.

NEW YORK, 1860.

These forty-three sermons were collected and published by the Rev. S. D. Alexander, D.D., after the death of the author. They were soon reprinted in Edinburgh, with a preface by the Rev. Charles Brown, D.D.

+ The Gospel According to Matthew Explained. NEW YORK, 1861.

This is an unfinished work. The first sixteen chapters are complete, but the approaching death of the author permitted him to give only an analysis of the remaining portion. Just a week before his death he wrote in his journal, "Finished the analysis of Matthew xvii.-xxviii."

Notes on New Testament Literature. NEW YORK, 1861.

This volume contains two fragments from the unpublished papers of Dr. Alexander, compiled by the Rev. S. D. Alexander, D.D. The first is, "Lectures on New Testament Literature;" the second, "Notes on Ecclesiastical History." These are brief sketches of his lectures, which no one but himself could fill up.
